How Much Money Do Nurses Make RN Average Salary Per Year or Hour

This video is about Registered Nurse RN salaries. I will be answering some questions on how much do registered nurses make and type of hourly wages you can expect to earn as a new nurse. We get a lot of questions from nursing students wondering how much they will make after they graduate. The average registered nurse salary is approximately $63,750 and the average hourly wage is $30.65. Now one thing you need to keep in mind is that these are only averages and these amounts can vary a bit depending on things like your work experience, type of degree you have, location, and type of work industry. As a new nurse you are going to earn an entry level salary. Typically when you have 3-5 years of nursing experience you will be able to earn a higher salary based on your experience. Another thing that will impact your salary is the type of degree you have. If you have an ADN degree some employers may start you as at a lower salary as compared to someone who has a BSN degree. Another factor that can impact your salary is geographical location. For example, if you live in a large city you will start out more than someone who lives in a small rural area. This is due to the differences in the cost of living. Lastly another factor that can impact your salary is the type of industry you work in. For example, if you work in a home health care setting you may make more than someone who works in a nursing care facility. And here as you can see a nurse who works in a home health setting makes about $58,740 compared to a nurse who works in a nursing care facility making $57,060. ### How to rent to travel nurses-house tour-how much money can you make

How does travel nurse rental housing property work and what's the best way to stage the property so nurses will want to stay there. Today let's go inside a travel nurse house. My friend Clarence Harris recently converted one of my rental properties from Section 8 into a travel nurse rental and we got our first paying tenant in 2 weeks. So I decided to see what other similar property looked like inside to see if I want to do another one. We're doing a house tour so you can see how this one is staged and what goes inside to really make these units make money. Also Clarence tells us how much money you can expect to make each month from a 2 bedroom property & how much your expenses will be as well.
