Do I need a Roth Conversion? How long will I live? Will I run out of money? What if I die before my spouse, will they be ok? These are some of the questions we look at in this case study of a couple in their 60's with $1 million. We take a look at how much they can expect to spend in retirement. We'll also take a look at some of the things that might go wrong while in retirement. #incomeplanning #retirementplanning #retirementincome #retirewith1million #retirementat60 Working with a CFP® professional can be an important step toward reaching your financial goals. Not only do these advisors meet rigorous education and experience requirements, but they are also held to some of the highest ethical and professional standards in the industry. Education CFP® professionals must master nearly 100 integrated financial planning topics, including: - Investment planning - Tax planning - Retirement planning - Estate planning - Insurance planning - Financial management In addition to completing a comprehensive financial planning curriculum approved by the CFP Board, or equivalent academic coursework, CFP® professionals are required to complete continuing education coursework, including a CFP Board approved code of ethics course, to ensure their competence in financial planning. Examination CFP® candidates must pass a comprehensive 6-hour CFP® Certification Examination that tests their ability to apply financial planning knowledge in an integrated format. The exam is notoriously difficult and only 64% of people who took the exam in 2017 passed. Based on regular research of what planners do, the exam covers: Establishing and defining the Client-Planner relationship Gathering information necessary to fulfill the engagement Analyzing and evaluating the client's current financial status Developing recommendations Communicating recommendations Implementing recommendations Monitoring the recommendations Practicing within professional and regulatory standards Experience CFP® professionals must have a minimum of three years experience in the personal financial planning process prior to earning the right to use the CFP® certification marks. As a result, CFP® practitioners possess financial counseling skills in addition to financial planning knowledge. Ethics As a final step to certification, CFP® practitioners agree to abide by a strict code of professional conduct, known as CFP Board's Code of Ethics and Professional Responsibility, that sets forth their ethical responsibilities to the public, clients and employers. CFP Board also performs a background check during this process, and each individual must disclose any investigations or legal proceedings related to their professional or business conduct. ----- The Definition of a Cost Segregation Study In a cost segregation analysis, a CPA or cost segregation engineer reclassifies different components of a rental property into different tax classifications. Instead of depreciating the entire property over 27.5 years, a cost segregation study allows different components to be depreciated on a schedule of 5, 7, or 15 years. This accelerated depreciation schedule can save thousands of dollars in taxes. Who Can Benefit From a Cost Segregation Analysis This is determined on a case-by-case basis, but generally speaking, high net worth individuals are a good fit for our cost segregation program. In order to move forward with a cost segregation, the individual (or someone in his or her family) must qualify as a real estate professional. The Power of Cost Segregation on a New Construction Rental Property Because everything is brand new on a new construction rental property, every single component can be depreciated to its fullest. For a breakdown on items included in our new construction cost segregations, read this blog post, The Power of a New Construction Cost Segregation Study: bit.ly/2We4o1D How to Find Out If a Cost Segregation Study Is Right For You We'd love to help you determine if this tax strategy is a fit with your overall goals. You can book a free call with Josh and the team at morrinvest.com. If for some reason a cost segregation is not right for you right now, that doesn't mean you won't be able to utilize it in the future. As always, it's smart to be informed on multiple strategies so that you can build wealth your way.
