Get a Home Inspection When Buying a Home Home Inspection Cost | Home Inspection Checklist Hire a professional home inspector before you buy a home. The time to discover expensive defects at a home you want to buy is before you buy the home. Even brand new homes often have major construction flaws. The $350-$500 cost for a home inspection is worth the money, especially if they find a $1,000+ defect in the home. Typically, a home inspector is contacted immediately after the contract or purchase agreement has been signed. Before you sign, be sure there is an inspection clause in the sales contract, making your final purchase obligation contingent on the findings of a professional home inspection. This clause should specify the terms and conditions to which both the buyer and seller are obligated. The home inspection report will cover the condition of the home's heating system; central air conditioning system; interior plumbing and electrical systems; the roof, attic and visible insulation; walls, ceilings, floors, windows and doors; the foundation, basement and structural components. Included with your home inspection report are usually digital pictures, a cost range guide, and general report summary of major defects. I can refer home inspectors in Pennsylvania but you can also ask friends and family for referrals. Ten Important Questions to Ask Your Home Inspector 1. What does your inspection cover? 2. How long have you been practicing in the home inspection profession and how many inspections have you completed? 3. Are you specifically experienced in residential inspection? 4. Do you offer to do repairs or improvements based on the inspection? 5. How long will the inspection take? 6. How much will it cost? 7. What type of inspection report do you provide and how long will it take to receive the report? 8. Will I be able to attend the inspection? 9. Do you maintain membership in a professional home inspector association? 10. Do you participate in continuing education programs to keep your expertise up to date? Call 215-315-7541 for a Free Report: How to Sell Your House on the Date of Your Choice Without Making a Repair! Or visit cmtrealstate.net/about.html and fill in your name and email for this Free Report. As you are probably aware, selling a home can be stressful, drawn-out undertaking at the best of times. Among the factors to consider: • Time and costs involved in preparing the home for sale (clean up, repairs, home staging, etc.) • Realtor commissions or marketing and showing expenses if you decide to sell the home without the agent • Having to ensure that prospective home buyers are able to qualify for a mortgage • The invasion of your privacy and potential security risks as strangers wander through the home during home showings • The cost of repairs necessary to make the sale and other common buyer negotiated fees such as home warranties In the current housing market, it may take six to twelve months for your home to sell -- six to twelve months which you will need to maintain the home in spotless ready to show condition -- if your home sells at all. But it does not have to be that way. As a Philadelphia real estate expert I care deeply about my clients. In fact that is the reason I have written this exciting new report: How to Sell Your House on the Date of Your Choice Without Making a Repair! One fact that may surprise you is nearly half of all the homeowners that list their homes for sale with a real estate agent fail to sell their home. Yes, you read it right, almost half the time agents simply fail to get their listings sold! But don't worry, you have several options that allow you to be as involved or as passive in the process as you want. Before you select the best option for you, decide what is important in the sale. Is it more important to get a higher price or to sell as quickly as possible; do you want to be in control of the sale, or do you want someone else to handle the details; how much money can you afford to pay to locate a buyer? This report is designed to help you evaluate your options, and make the best selection based on your individual needs and desires. It will provide you with tips for faster sale, and show you the advantages and disadvantages of each alternative. You should spend time reading this entire report, then sit down with any other decision makers to decide your best course of action. Remember, don't just re-list the property with a real estate agent until you read this entire report.
