Getting Electricity from the Pole to the Property

I cover design, trench placement, cable burial, conduit for known future cable runs, future-proofing for the second 10 acres, and the installation of a 600 Amp single phase transformer. It is so nice to have electrical actually on the property vs running next to it up on a pole. ▲ RELATED INFO: Design Review of the Workshop / Guest House youtu.be/s7Hw5yNqvY0 Property Site Design and Build - Part 6 youtu.be/XJvfVnSNxuE ▲ CLOSING PHOTO: Thomas Miller, "Tatonka In The Morning", © May 2018 Google Maps Plus Code: H7F8+MQ Moose Wilson Rd, Wyoming ▲ WHO WE ARE: Cari and Tom Miller, 50 + empty nesters getting a head start on our retirement place. Electric on Our Property.

Well after months of planning and waiting, we finally got our electric on Foggy Ridge Farm..... Well not quite, Our main electric from the electric company is now on our property. We still need to install a temporary box to plug in to. With the bad weather we have been having it will still be a few more weeks before we get the 30amp RV panel connected to the meter. Then we will be able to plug our camper into the electric. I cant begin to tell you how much we have been waiting for that day.

Electricity vs solar: How property owners can capitalize on renewable energy

South Africa's electricity supply has been inconsistent for more than a decade, with state company Eskom compelled to use load-shedding on and off to avoid overloading the grid. This has put enormous strain on the energy-dependent economy, as well as lowering household quality of life. With no end in sight to the power outage, South Africans are turning to alternative energy sources, and solar is at the top of the list. When it comes to solar energy, consumers have two major options: hybrid or off-grid systems. In this episode of Fitzanne's Property Exchange, Pearl Scheltema talks to Fedgroup CFO, Sheldon Friedericksen about how property owners can capitalize on renewable energy.
