I stayed with them so long because I couldn't find it in me to go through the agony of comparing companies. The Penny Hoarder gave Jerry a great review and I am so happy I gave them a try!" — M. Swatt "Jerry took care of everything, even canceling my old policy and getting me a refund!" — S.C. "Saved $600 a year. Every 6 months Jerry automatically checks rates again." — B.D. "It has better pricing than going directly to the Insurance Company. I have used Jerry for two policies now." — Dave M. "I downloaded 3 insurance searching apps and Jerry was the best one by far. Easy. Accurate. Great customer service!" — Kyerra S. ----- If you're thinking about buying a home, you're probably wondering how much home insurance is going to cost. While the average annual premium for home insurance is about $1,200, the reality is that how much you'll need to pay can differ a lot depending on certain factors. One is where you live. Louisiana, for instance, is one of the most expensive places for home insurance because of the risk for dangerous weather like hurricanes. Idaho, Oregon, and Utah have some of the cheapest averages for home insurance. But it's not just where you live. The price of home insurance also depends a lot on the type of house you own. The age of your home, the condition of key parts like your roof, any past claims — all of these things will impact your final price. Your home insurance company will examine potential risks when determining your rates. Some of these risks you have control over, and some are simply beyond your control. If you have more questions, or are looking for the best rates for car, renters, or home insurance, reach out to our Jerry experts on the app, 7 days a week.

How much is hazard insurance on a condo in Utah

How much is hazard insurance on a condo in Utah? The cost of hazard insurance or homeowners insurance for a condo in Utah will vary depending on the coverages selected and the amount of insurance purchased. The endorsements you select to enhance your condo home insurance will also play a role in determining the price you will pay. On average, we see clients paying close to $20 per month for their HO-6 condo insurance policy. We always recommend purchasing enough dwelling coverage to meet or exceed your condo HOA's master policy deductible. In Utah, this is typically $10,000 but can vary from one condominium association to another. We also recommend that you include the Loss Assessment endorsement on your Condo HO-6 insurance policy. This will provide you coverage for losses assessed by the homeowners association. Condo Insurance In Utah can be purchased for as low as $10 per month for lower personal property and liability coverage and can be as high as $50 per month, or higher, depending on the amount of coverage selected. Because each individual or family, and each condo association is different, we advise working with an insurance professional to help you determine the amount of dwelling coverage, personal property coverage, and liability coverage needed for your specific needs.
