Neighbors of 'Home Alone' house share behind-the-scenes video of iconic movie 30 years after its release

The Home Alone house -- a great place to call home

My day started with a visit to one of the most iconic homes in America -- the Home Alone house. The home recently came on the market at a price of $2.4 million. It's in one of the North Shore's most attractive locations, a block from a lively strip of shops and restaurants, two blocks from the Metra station and Lake Michigan. Coldwell Banker's Marissa Hopkins was my tour guide as we focused on the house as a great place to call home.

It's that time of year again, CHRISTMAS, and that means if you have some spare time you may just put on some of your favorite holiday movies to get in the mood. One that plays on TV time and time again, that almost everyone adores has gotta be Home Alone. Aside from the movie itself, the home where Kevin McAllister gets left to fight off a pair of burglars during the Christmas break is pretty iconic too. In usual house tour fashion on this channel, we're gonna take a look at the real-life Home Alone house, and let me tell you, it's changed A LOT. We even found the listing! Home Alone is a Christmas family comedy film filmed in 1990, written and produced by John Hughes and directed by Chris Columbus. Of course, it stars a young Macaulay Culkin in what would be his most famous role ever as Kevin McAllister, and other greats like Joe Pesci, Catherine O'Hara, and more. It's been almost 30 years since the classic film hit cinemas, and the house at the center of the film now looks totally different. While it's said in the movie that the home is in Chicago, in reality, it's actually located in Winnetka, Illinois. This is the same place where Kevin sets up traps for the hapless burglars when his family accidentally leaves him behind over Christmas, and the home's interior and exterior brings so many iconic scenes to mind. While the movie doesn't mention what Kevin's parents do for a living they must be raking it in to have such a stunning home -- which these days, is worth MILLIONS. #HomeAlone #HouseTour #RealEstate #Winnetka #Illinois #MovieLocation #FilmingLocation #LuxuryRealEstate #LuxuryHomes ----- Writer / Host: Kara instagram.com/karathelvampireslayer

[BEFORE AFTER] Home alone house tour

The Home Alone movie house has always been one of my favorites, so I was excited when a reader named Eric shared photos he took inside the real home in Winnetka, Illinois, with me. He says the owners were kind enough to allow him to take these in 2004. The 1990 John Hughes movie Home Alone made both Macaulay Culkin and the red-brick Georgian-style Colonial his character Kevin lived in famous. It remains one of the most popular and beloved movie houses ever, and it's on the market in Winnetka, Illinois for $2.4 million. Let's see how the real house looks now compared to the sets that replicated it on a soundstage for the movie 20+ years ago. On Location: Home Alone (1990) Filming Locations!

We slept in! -- Home Alone Filming Locations 30 years later! Home Alone is THE Christmas movie of a generation. Right after Thanksgiving, this Chris Columbus-directed film is on repeat, and for good reason. Although there are plenty of funny, slapstick scenes with Kevin McCallister (Macaulay Culkin) and the wicked Wet Bandits (Joe Pesci and Daniel Stern), this movie hits on what the true meaning of Christmas is: love and family. You can't help but feel good (and fully entertained) at the end. The Beyond the Backlot crew heads to the Chicagoland area (Winnetka, Wilmette, and Oak Park) to track down some of these iconic, memorable filming locations -- and fulfill last year's @Beyond the Backlot Location Scout episode -- a true then and now filming locations adventure. As John Hughes normally did, he canvassed the north shore suburbs of Chicago to find the perfect home, neighborhood, and community for his timeless Christmas classic. It was an honor to walk in the footsteps of John Hughes' most commercially-successful film of his brilliant career. Merry Christmas, ya filthy animals. And Happy New Year! AND -- Happy 30th Anniversary to Home Alone!  What if your favorite movie could come back to life? It does in Beyond the Backlot. As kids of the 70s, 80s, and 90s, we have fond memories of watching our favorite films over and over. Thanks to theaters and VHS tapes, these movies aren't just blockbusters from the past - they're part of our childhood. Beyond the Backlot taps into our hunger for nostalgia by visiting the current day locations of our favorite films.
