Valuing a Mobile Home Park

If you are capping this income at a 10 cap, you are placing a value of $30,000 per mobile home. Now there may be some nice doublewides that are being rented in some parks that are worth $30,000 but it is not the norm. Most of the time, these homes are older singlewide homes that may have a value from $3,000 to $10,000.

Park Home Costs: The Cost of Buying & Running a Park Home ...

As with a traditional home, the amount you'll need to fund the purchase will vary depending on the location, size, and style of the home that you choose. New park homes can cost anywhere from £70,000 to £400,000.

How to Evaluate Mobile Home Park Investments for ...

For this example, we will use 80 percent. Example: 10 Park-Owned Homes X $12,000 Market Value = $120,000. $120,000 X 0.8 = $96,000 Park-Owned Home Inventory Value. Now we need to add the park-owned home inventory value to the land value amount to give the true value of the mobile home park.

What Is The Difference Between A Mobile Home Park And A ...

Not only is there a difference in eviction, but also in overall park management and maintenance. The management of a mobile home park requires less legwork from management as much responsibility is placed on the tenant. But a trailer park is a different story in that regard. Trailer park management and maintenance are very hands on for the staff.

Trailer park millionaires

Some of the richest people in the US, including billionaires Warren Buffett and Sam Zell, have made millions from trailer parks at the expense of the country's poorest people. Seeing their success, ordinary people from across the country are now trying to follow in their footsteps and become trailer park millionaires. The Guardian went to Orlando to learn the tricks of the trade from Frank Rolfe, the self-appointed dean of Mobile Home University, as he led would-be investors around a trailer park for sex offenders. Vacancy Decontrol for Oceanside Mobile Home Parks

Owning a mobile home is one of the most affordable kinds of home ownership left, but the catch is that your house is on land owned by someone else. KPBS reporter Alison St John says rent control gives mobile home owners some security, but park owners are fighting to overturn it. The latest example is in Oceanside, where Proposition E on the June ballot would phase out rent control for the residents of the city's 17 parks.

Palm Springs revamps trailer park with mid-century tiny homes

Built in the 1940s, the Palm Canyon Mobile Club was showing its age when the owners approached realtor Paul Kaplan about helping to sell new homes in the park. Kaplan suggested a fresh start: investing in tiny homes instead of traditional mobile homes. Rather than partnering with a prefab designer or tiny home architect, they chose to work with a traditional mobile home manufacturer because of the scale of the project (100 homes). Working with manufactured home builder Silvercrest, they pushed for a modern, Midcentury-inspired design more fitting of Palm Springs and avoiding some of the hallmark details of conventional mobile homes like ceiling moldings and six-panel doors. "There's also a stigma against mobile home parks," explains Kaplan. "You know the whole trailer trash kind of thing, and I think people are re-looking at it and seeing it really provides a nice sense of community." The Palm Canyon Mobile Club has a renovated pool and clubhouse with workout room and community kitchen. The houses start at $115,000 for the 600 square foot model, with a $650 monthly rental fee for the site. palmcanyonmobileclub.com/ Original story: faircompanies.com/videos/palm-springs-revamps-trailer-park-with-mid-century-tiny-homes/
