Common Questions Realtors Hear #2: Have You Sold Homes In My Area Before

7 most commonly asked questions Realtors hear. Presented to you by Vince Villegas and Evan Beach. To find out more go to mihomehunter.com/ or call (616) 920-0290 To learn how our 47-point marketing plan will get your house sold for top dollar and to learn the estimated value of your house go to mihomehunter.com/sell/ Question 2: Have you sold homes in my area before? Sometimes, the best agent to use is not always the agent who has sold more homes in a particular area. These are the questions you should be asking: What is the marketing plan? What is the strategy? What is the track record of success? If an agency on average sells at or above listing price, it means that their marketing strategy is stronger and will ultimately get more money in the clients' pocket. OpenDoor Offer on my House Flip Vs. What we Sold For, Zillow Stopped Buying Houses and Lien Update!

This is a flip that we bought for $230,000 and sold for $392,000! It was a good flip but we had some problems along the way! I usually do not do updates when we sell flips, just when we finish the remodel but this one had a lot going on! First, we had a contractor, who we fired, hire another subcontractor on this job. They had a feud about payments and the subcontractor filed a lien against the house. The dispute was over $175. We were able to sell the house without paying the lien! Woohoo. I always pay my contractors and have never had a lien filed against me but this guy was a piece of work! I also tried to see what Zillow and OpenDoor would pay for this house before I sold it and compare it to what we sold it for. We were able to get an offer from OpenDoor and show what they would pay after costs compared to what we sold for after costs. Then Zillow said they will stop buying houses! Here is the video that goes over the contractor and lien issue in even more detail:
